Short synopsis in English

From a young age Zelma is relentlessly pressured by the Mythology Sirens to conform to expectations that society has placed on women. Not finding a Soul Mate, they sing to her, will result in loneliness, abandonment, even death. So, Zelma works to change her feral ways and attract her perfect match. "Ah, but there is a price to pay," says spunky Biology, who chronicles the neurochemical activity in Zelma's brain. "There are stress hormones, neurotransmitters, the amygdala, the prefrontal cortex, and much, much more". With the forces of Mythology Sirens and Biology battling it out, Zelma embarks on a wild quest for love and marriage starting from her earliest gender expressions, to schoolyard crushes, to the confusion of teenage love, to freedoms of college, through the labyrinth of one marriage, into the vastly different complexities of another.
